250 Turn Out for Annual Meeting of Prescott Chamber of Commerce

McMath Got $18,650 From Labor Unions in Unsuccessful Campaign Against McClellan

WASHINGTON, (Special) — From records of the House clerk and the Senate Republican Policy Committee, which has been looking into organized labor's financial participation in political campaigns, it was learned today that former Gov. Sidney McMath of Arkansas, in his 1954 unsuccessful campaign to unseat Senator John L. McClellan, received direct donations of $18,650 from CIO, Federation of Labor and railway employees' political action and education organizations.

McMath also was the apparent beneficiary of most of nearly $10,000 more which was sent into the state during, prior to or immediately after the campaign. In all, $28,448 was reported as having gone into Arkansas out of $1,362,460.78 allocated to specific states. Additionally, the labor groups accounted for $348,971.43 disbursed for political purposes but not assigned to any particular states.

Only 16 states received more direct contributions from the labor unions than did Arkansas where it is obvious their officers hoped to be instrumental in electing McMath. The direct-to-McMath contributions were from:

- American Federation of Labor League for Political Education, $7,500.
- Council of Industrial Organizations Political Action Committee, $3,000.
- United State Workers of America, $2,000.
- Machinists' Non-partisan Political League, $2,000.
- Railway Labor's Political League, $2,000.
- Trainmen's Political Education League, $650.
- The United Auto Workers CIO-PAC reported a $3,000 contribution to the Arkansas CIO Council without stating whether it was for the McMath campaign.

The CIO-PAC let the Fort Smith Area Council CIO have $500 May 17, 1954, and allotted a total of $1,300 to the Pulaski County PAC at different times during the campaign. Political activity financed by the CIO got underway well in advance of the campaign. A donation of $1,500 July 1, 1953, through Ed Pace of Camden, who was president of the Young Democrats of Arkansas, for the "Citizens Registration committee" was reported, presumably to aid in the poll tax drive that was made in that year. Deadline to qualify for voting in the 1954 primary was October 1, 1953. The state CIO Council received $500 from the national CIO-PAC in August, 1953.

Other contributions noted in the reports were $1,500 to the "Committee on Citizenship" at Little Rock December 31, 1953, from the

Faubus' SS Deal to Cost $280,000

LITTLE ROCK, Feb. 8 (Special) — A "gimmick" in the federal Social Security law giving an advantage to employees 63 or older, of which the state Highway Department in 1955 had 259, is the reason behind a one-year retroactive agreement for Social Security coverage of Highway Department personnel forced by Governor Faubus over Highway Commission objections.

A Highway Department survey, made in August, 1955, revealed that of 2,615 employees on the payroll at that time, 259 would qualify under a special provision for persons who will reach age 65 before October 1, 1958. All but 68 of these 259 were at that time already 65 years old or older with two of

Nowadays a Man Has to Go to Work to Get Away From All of the Free Entertainment

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, (U) — This is one man's reluctant farewell to the Broadway theater world. One of the main reasons I left a comfortable life in Kansas City 19 years ago to come to harried Manhattan was to see live actors in five plays. The theater was my main magnet. It held an intoxicating glamour. The intoxication has departed. The hangover remains. I'll settle for television. There are now about 30 plays on Broadway. I have seen six of them and some under protest. Fifteen years ago I would have seen at least 25. What happened to me, a typical theater lover? Perhaps it is the ennui of middle age that I see fewer plays. It may explain why I haven't been to an opening night in years. But one who falls out of love usually manages to find a flaw in the object that once held him rapt. He doesn't like to admit that it is he alone who has changed. And so I pick faults in the theater, which once I loved this side of idolatry. I prefer to think it has changed more than I have. The musty excitement, the waiting thrill of a curtain going up on a new world. The secret stepping off from a faded seat into a bright adventure on the stage, the feeling produced by lights going down as a life situation comes up — these things I miss and miss them more as time goes by. But going to the theater has simply become too darn much trouble. The emphasis on Broadway today is on hit shows. Those that aren't on immediate hit usually fold their tents and silently seal away. Don Patton Is First to Sign With Guards

Donald E. Patton became the first Recruit to join Company A, 153rd Inf. Ark NG in the current Recruiting drive that seeks to bring the Arkansas National Guard Unit to its quota, Captain Inon G. Cook, commanding officer announced today.

Private Patton, a Hope, boy, attending school, and also has a paper route for the Hope Star. At the age of 17 Donald decided he wanted to do even more. He contacted M/Sgt. Jones at the National Guard Armory for advice, and was told of the many advantages a young man his age would have by becoming a member of the National Guard. First, he being only 17 years of age, he could fulfill his Military Obligation right here in Hope, he would receive top Military Training, have educational opportunities, Advancement and Promotions. Increased income, opportunities for a commission, meet new friends, learn leadership, attend the Annual Summer Camp, get retirement benefits and many more advantages.

The local recruiting campaign which started February 1st, Company A, is striving to enlist 10 or more new members by February 22nd. Captain Cook invites all young men between the age of 17 and 35, and war veterans to follow the example of Private Patton and join the National Guard. "A full day's pay at regular Army rates for the two hour drill period each week, free specialist schooling, social, and sports activities, and the opportunity to advance according to ability and ambition can be had by all members," Captain Cook said.

State Draft Quota for February 76

LITTLE ROCK, (U) — Arkansas' draft quota for March is 192, state Selective Service Headquarters announced today. The March call compares with a February quota of 76, and a March 1955 call of 143. About 250 men will be ordered for induction to fill the March quota.

Expansion of U. S. Unlimited Says Hadley

"It used to be that when a new industrial plant loomed on the horizon each city fought tooth and nail with its neighbor in an effort to land the prize — but now smart cities try to work together to place the plant somewhere in their region for the benefit of all," William H. Hadley, program director of television station KATV, Little Rock, told an audience of 250 at the Prescott Chamber of Commerce's annual membership meeting and banquet in the Junior High School cafeteria there Thursday night.

Mr. Hadley said this foolish rivalry also extended to the states, and he told of the case of a Mississippi enthusiast who, Arkansasans are fairly certain, went East and spread the word that few people in our state wore shoes.

But there is hope for all areas of America, the speaker continued, because this nation within a few years will pass the 200-million population mark — "an unlimited industrial outlook for consumer demand."

H. H. McKenzie was master of ceremonies and introduced the speaker. Entertainment was by the Joe Smith Quartet. Jim Nelson opened the banquet with the invocation and Vernon Fore closed with the benediction.

Ready to Okay Franchise to Southland

CONWAY, (U) — The chairman of the state Racing Commission said today that "personally" he is ready to grant Southland Racing Corp. a dog racing franchise, "and leave it up to the 1957 Legislature to straighten out the law." Dr. Edwin Dunaway, contacted here after chancellor W. Leon Smith formally overruled the commission's rejection of Southland application, said: "Personally, I am ready to go ahead and get this mess over with. However, I can't speak

PSC Plans Not to Appear in Stephens Case

LITTLE ROCK, (Special) — Formal notice of the February 20 hearing before the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington to determine whether W. R. Stephens Investment Co., Little Rock, should be exempted from the Holding Company Act was received Thursday by the state Public Service Commission, but Chairman Lewis Robinson said he did not contemplate any PSC action in the matter.

Also notified by the SEC were the mayors of Little Rock, North Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, El Dorado, Texarkana, Camden, in Arkansas; Shreveport and Bossier City, in Louisiana, and Texarkana, Tex., and the Texas Railroad Commission, the Louisiana Public Service Commission and the Federal Power Commission.

The Stephens company, which W. R. Stephens heads, filed the application for exemption from registration as a holding company in October, 1954, when it acquired a majority of the common stock of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. from Cities Service Co. by means of a loan from a New York bank on a note endorsed by Mississippi River Fuel Corp.

It was a $25,000,000 purchase of stock the market value of which has since risen to $43,000,000 after a jump in earnings from 43 cents per share in 1954 to $1.07 last year and the declaration of a 10 per cent stock dividend shortly before the end of 1955.

The SEC notice recites that, as the basis for its application for exemption, the Stephens company represented that it would undertake to spin off to a new company the Ark-La production, extraction and related transmission properties with stock in the new company all going to Mississippi River Fuel Co. Stephens also stated that Ark-La's common stock, which Stephens acquired would be disposed of through sales to the public.

Neither of these steps has been taken; consequently the SEC has concluded that the circumstances which caused it to be exempted from compliance with the Holding Company Act no longer exist. At the hearing, Stephens will be given an opportunity to show cause why the SEC should not revoke the exemption.

Stephens said today he was not informed as to just what would be required of his company if the exemption were revoked. He expressed the hope that the SEC would leave the exemption in effect.

High Supports Approved by Committee

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON, (U) — An election year farm bill which combines President Eisenhower's soil bank plan with the rigid price supports he says would nullify it was approved early today by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Brushing aside the President's contention that such action would "defeat the main object of the soil bank," the committee confirmed the 8-7 vote last Saturday by which it had tentatively approved supports at 90 per cent of parity for wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts.

Going beyond its Saturday action, it added special provisions to benefit dairymen and growers of burley and flue-cured tobacco, and voted to figure parity prices on

Negro Student Charges School Officials

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (U) — A Negro coed, returning to federal court in a bid to gain readmittance to the University of Alabama, charged school officials could have halted campus rioting. The action was one of two filed yesterday in the long legal battle of Catherine Lucy to attend classes at the university. Hearings on both petitions are scheduled Feb. 29, before U.S. Dist. Judge Hobart Grooms.

Miss Lucy petitioned Grooms to compel university authorities to readmit her to classes, and in a companion action she seeks dormitory accommodations and the right to eat in the school's dining hall.

Miss Lucy charged that members of the Board of Trustees and Dean of Admissions, William F. Adams "intentionally permitted acts of unidentified persons, in order to assimilate an air of riot and disorder and rebellion on the campus."

Such actions, she said in her petition, Continued on Page Two

Soviet Balloons, Radio Equipped, Fall on Japan

P I RADIO EQUIPPED
TOKYO (UP) — U. S. military officials revealed today that at least three radio equipped weather balloons launched by Russia have fallen on Japan.

The Soviet balloons are similar to American types against which the Kremlin has lodged a stern protest.

Three balloons marked with Russian words have fallen in Japan in the past two years, American military authorities said.

The last one fell in Eastern Hokkaido, the northernmost Japanese Islands, Feb. 4. The Soviet balloon discovered Feb. 4 had been revealed earlier, but today's disclosure indicated that Russian balloons launching activities have been going on for some time. The American disclosure directly repudiated Soviet military expert Co. A. V. Tarasov, who was quoted in a Moscow paper as saying: "Continued on Page Two"

To get to see each hit play you have to write for the tickets in advance, pay an exorbitant price for them or cozy up to a person of influence.

Contrary to popular belief, a newspaperman can't walk into a Broadway show by flashing his press card. The only time I ever had to use a press card was to borrow money from a bank, and I was turned down. Since then I have borrowed heavily from a bank across the street, hoping to drive the other bank out of business. This didn't work. While it did stir up considerable interest, I had to pay the interest.

I don't like to buy in February, I refuse to pay $25 for a quick $50 seat. I don't like to ask help from people of influence because they immediately expect a return favor.

The legitimate theaters get fewer seats by year. So, I fear, do the legitimate theatergoers.

What is happening to baseball slowly happening to the theater. The fans stay at home, and turn on television dial. They miss a lot, but they see a lot of good new things, too. The best of Broadway eventually comes into the living room.

The truth is anyway, that there are so many forms of the entertainment lighting for the average man's attention today that he has to go to work to get away from them.

The 26-year-old Birmingham secretary is the first Negro enrolled at the 125-year-old state university. She was barred Monday from attending classes after rioting crowds had stoned her and school officials.

The trustees declared that she was excluded as a measure of safety. But Miss Lucy charged in her petition that she was excluded solely because she is a Negro in defiance of an order issued by Grooms last July. It was on this order that Miss Lucy was admitted to the school.

She called the board's action "a cunning stratagem" and said adequate police protection is available.

Miss Lucy is asking $1,000 damages in the dormitory suit, and also asks that Dean of Women Sarah Healy be compelled to assign her a dormitory room, and allow her to eat in university dining halls.

In the petition seeking readmittance to classes, she is seeking $2,000 damages. She also asks that Dr. O. C. Carmichael, university president, Adams and 10 trustees be held in contempt and that they be imprisoned if they do not permit her to resume classes.

Because these "retirement-age" employees can attain higher pension benefits in less time if the Social Security coverage effective date up two per cent of the 1955 salaries up to $4,200 within 80 days from January 27 and the Highway Department must match their contribution. The department estimates the total cost for the retroactive coverage will run $280,000. Payroll deductions for current coverage were begun this January.

An agreement to bring the Highway Department employees under Social Security with the effective date January 1, 1955, was entered into with the federal agency by State Comptroller Kelly Cornett, at the governor's direction. It was approved by the Social Security Administration January 27. On January 25 the Highway Commission in a minute order signified its desire that the coverage should begin on January 1, 1956, but the earlier effective date, approved in Washington, apparently will stand.

Highway Employees Retirement System members approved Social Security coverage in a referendum last November in which the effective date was not an issue.

cow dispatch as insisting that Russia uses only balloons that cannot go beyond Soviet borders.

Three Russian balloons were recovered in Japan by Japanese police, U. S. authorities said, and turned over to American military officials.

The container filled with e-teological equipment on the balloon discovered this month was marked in Russian, "for atmospheric observations."

A U. S. spokesman said it was found in good condition. The container housed a short-wave radio transmitter, an antenna and weather observation equipment, the spokesman said. But no camera was found in the Russian equipment.

Moscow has protested that American weather balloons carried cameras for "espionage" purposes. U. S. officials answered that the cameras were for photographing clouds.

the higher of two formulas. Parity is a price determined under farm law to be fair to producers in relation to their costs. An older formula was replaced this year by a newer one which had the effect of lowering parity prices on most crops.

Chairman Ellender (D-La) said the alternative provision, adopted by a 9-6 vote, could prevent a drop of about 12 cents a bushel in wheat supports and lesser amounts on other basic crops.

The committee, which started work yesterday morning, went beyond last night before completing its bill, which still must be drafted into final legal language. The measure then will go to the Senate.

Ellender said he expects Senate debate to get under way about Feb. 20, and he predicts "a big fight."

A return to the higher rigid support program would knock out the flexible support program which the Eisenhower administration pushed through in 1954. Setting the levels on a flexible scale between 75 and 90 per cent, it was designed to reduce overproduction by paying farmers less when their crops were not needed.

Eisenhower proposed this year to supplement the flexible program with a soil bank plan, under which farmers would be paid to plant less of the surplus crops than their allotments under the control program.

He and Secretary of Agriculture Benson have contended that heavy government-owned surpluses acquired under the high-level support program have kept farm prices down. Once this surplus is absorbed, they said, farm prices will react to normal market conditions.

Canadian Dies for Slaying American

MONTREAL (UP)—Wilbert Coffin, 43-year-old backwoods handyman, died on the gallows early today for the murder of a young Pennsylvanian hunter.

Maintaining his innocence until the last, Coffin went silently to his death after authorities turned down his last appeal.

He was convicted of slaying Richard Lindsey, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa. The bear-gnawed body of young Lindsey, his father Eugene Lindsey, 47, and Frederick Claar, 20, were found in the wild Gaspé bush country of Quebec in 1953. Police said they had been shot.

The three Pennsylvanians went into the rugged area June 10, 1953, to hunt bear. A search was launched July 5 when relatives reported they had failed to return.

The prosecution charged that Coffin ambushed the three hunters and stole more than $600. Police said Coffin admitted only that he stole some of the hunters' luggage. He did not take the stand at his 9-day trial in Perce, Que.

Coffin did not speak during the last two hours of his life. Before the hood was placed over his head, he shook hands with the two guards assigned to watch over him.

The trap at Bordeaux Jail was sprung at 12:19 a. m. and he was pronounced dead 14 minutes later.

Coffin had wanted to marry Marion Petrie, his common-law wife and the mother of his 8-year-old son James, before being hanged but Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis would not permit it.

Las Vegas May Be Slowing Up on High Pay

BY BOB THOMAS

LA SVEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "Last year Las Vegas, paid between 18 and 20 million dollars for entertainment that would have cost 3 million in New York or San Francisco, is now paying 4 million in another gambling city like Reno."

That's the report of Herb McDonald, manager of the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce. He is among those who view the booming talent prices as a danger to this boom town's economy.

"The three hotels that closed recently would still be open if they had had a realistic attitude toward entertainment costs," he declared. He cited the fact that a star like Lena Horne would earn $22,500 a week at The Sands here, then open a few days later at the Cocoanut Grove in Los Angeles at $1,750 weekly.

McDonald, formerly with two local hotels, is a 10-year veteran of Las Vegas anyone who has been here more than five years is a pioneer. He recalls paying Kay Starr $150 a week to sing in 1940; she now gets $25,000. Peggy Lee left Benny Goodman's band that year and played El Rancho Vegas at $350. She now draws $12,500. Other then-and-now salaries: Sammy Davis Jr., $450-$25,000; Liberace $600-$45,000.

Salaries for entertainers have become "ridiculous," McDonald claims. "The only sensible way to operate is to establish a system like professional football, with a draft system and bonus picks. If talent prices were sensible, there would be prosperity for all. But the present system of trying to outbid each other for stars can be ruinous."

However, Jack Entratter, big gun of The Sands, doubts if the hotels will ever band together. "They tried it back in 1930," he says. "It lasted about four months. The established hotels might stick together, but the new ones will bid up prices because they need the talent."

Sahara boss Milton Prell feels that Las Vegas is "getting back to reality."

"I think the events of the last three months did this town a lot of good," he says. "New operators failed because they didn't know the gambling, hotel or entertainment business."

The regent, Mrs. James LaGrossa, read the report of the chapters activities for the past year. She will present this report at the State Conference in Little Rock February 23.

Guests were Miss Moore, Miss Parker, Mrs. Lee Parker of Lewisville, Mrs. C. C. Moore and Mrs. C. D. Lester.

Hostess for the luncheon were Mrs. McDowell Turner, Mrs. J. V. LaGrossa, Mrs. R. L. Person and Mrs. George Frazier.

DOROTHY DIX

Sic the Law on Stingy Husband

Dear Miss Dix: I'd like to add my contribution to your discussion of stingy husbands.

You cannot reform a stingy, miserly husband. You cannot cure him. You cannot appeal to his love, for his love of self transcends all else in his life. His stinginess dominates his whole personality.

But, there is a solution. You must strike at him in the only place that counts — his pocketbook. Sue him or prepare to sue him, for separate maintenance. There is no law, moral, religious or Federal, that says a woman must live with a man. You do not have to divorce him to obtain your legal rights, but believe me, only the knowledge that you have a case and intend to press it will bring him around.

Any woman who has put up with a husband of this type for very long does have a case of cruel and inhuman treatment, mental torture and maybe even nonsupport. Just go to a good attorney and sue.

At first your husband will say, "Go ahead. You'll have to work for your living and I'll save the cost of your keep." However, when he realizes that giving you a fair allowance will be cheaper than supporting another establishment and that the loss of your services will be expensive, hell surrender. Not, you understand, for love of his wife, but for love of his pocketbook. Chances are your case will never reach court, but the knowledge that you have legal advice to force an agreement will usually do the trick.

The power of prayer is great, but you can pray your life away trying to change a miser and success will never come. Pray instead for the courage to face the situation and see it through.

I raised five children and worked part time for 21 years to help support them, as getting one cent from my husband was a major operation. At the age of 50, I could no longer work. Father had property, a fine job and a padlock on his wallet. For six months I begged, prepared my case to present to an attorney, but it wasn't necessary. My husband agreed to a settlement. And he has more respect for me now than he ever had before. I should have taken the step sooner.

VERA F.

Answer: As any woman plagued by this problem (and there are plenty of them) can see, tears and lamentations are no good in solving it. The miser is immune to any pleas. His God is money, and only through money can his heart be reached. Your method of reaching it is drastic — but it worked in your case. Perhaps other wives won't be as successful, but we hope you've helped some women.

Its Dangerous

Dear Miss Dix: Will you please advise if a child 3 1/2 years old is safe alone for about 10 or 15 minutes? I think a child of that age should not be left alone, but my husband sees no danger and he wants me to leave to go to the store, etc.

WORRIED MOTHER

Answer: Just ask Father to read the paper for a week, dwelling on the stories of little tots who have met with accidents while alone. At the end of a week ask him if he thinks children of that age are safe alone. His answer can be nothing but "no."

Dear Miss Dix: I'm in nurses' training, expect to graduate and be married in September. My fiancée, I hear, is often seen taking an other girl home. Since I live at the hospital I don't get out very often. Should I let him know that I'm aware of his philandering?

GEORGIA

Answer: Yes, particularly since appearances might be deceiving and it could be a very innocent occurrence. If not, it's better to know now than later that your fiancée has wandering tendencies.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a boy of 16 and do not include college in my future plans. My father has repeatedly told me about the necessity for a college education, saying I should study a profession instead of being like him. (He is a writer.) I would prefer to enter State Tech to learn a trade.

Another of dissension is that my folks think I should enter college and join an ROTC unit, while I would prefer to join the Navy.

An advisor in school has told me I'd have no trouble getting into State Tech. I don't think I could pass in college as I am having a difficult time getting through high school (I graduate this year.) Ev-ment business. I feel salaries will become more reasonable and Las Vegas can look forward to an unlimited future.

The monumental salaries were largely paid to stars who were playing Las Vegas for the first time. Nearly all such possibilities are now exhausted.

"There are only a few big names left who could command stratospheric prices," said one operator. "Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye and Judy Garland are the ones who are most sought after. But for one reason or another they aren't available."

Some of these stars, as well as other holdouts like Arthur Godfrey and Kate Smith, will not play Las Vegas on moral grounds. They feel that they have built up family audiences that would be offended to learn of their involvement in gambling establishments.

Kostelanetz to Be Sunday TV Feature

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Next Sunday Andre Kostelanetz will make his American television debut conducting a symphony orchestra playing Aaron Copland's "The Lincoln Portrait" on the Ed Sullivan show (CBS-TV).

Kostelanetz himself commissioned Copland to write in 1942 every time I try to discuss the problem with my folks, they have a fit. How can I convince them I have ideas and plans of my own?

Answer: Many, many parents make the grave mistake of trying to live vicariously through their children, insisting that the young people have advantages the older people lacked. A college education is usually one of the first items on the program. Because Dad never went beyond first-year high, he is bound and determined his children will be well educated.

Parents Must Adjust
Most youngsters fall in line with the program, but a few simply aren't college material and would be unhappy if forced to attend. Parents shouldn't look upon this lack of aptitude as a major catastrophe, but should readjust their own thinking best to help the child. You may not be a genius in high school, Everett, but you certainly have common sense and a sense of proportion—two valuable attributes that are sometimes lacking in the college-trained.

It's useless to take professional training unless it's something you really want and can absorb. A bad doctor or lawyer is infinitely worse than a good waiter. Today's trade workers have tremendous advantages by their work, and in many cases they earn considerably more than professionals.

Get the sympathetic adviser to talk to your parents in an effort to revise their thinking. If they will be co-operative instead of obstructive, they will find no fault in your choice of career.

Carl Sandburg, the poet and Lincoln biographer, will speak the narrative sections of the composition.

It's good news when Kostelanetz and outstanding conductor in radio and the recording field, says "I'd like to do all I can in television." He was quite amazed to learn that many people had the impression he was opposed to participating in the medium.

"Television has the highest priority in my thinking these days," Kostelanetz said. "The great problem in any new medium is to find out just how to do it." He believes the nation's leading symphonic orchestras should appear regularly on TV—not in long programs, to begin with, but in half-hour concerts. "A viewer must feel he's occupying a fine seat in a concert hall. He must get the musical message of the composition."

The nervous camera work that often marks orchestra appearances on TV is distracting to the audience, Kostelanetz said. Thus when a camera swings to a close-up of a tympnist sticking a couple of inconsequential notes the audience is missing the overall musical message. You would not be so distracted, he points out, if you were sitting in Carnegie Hall.

Last Sunday an intelligent bit of planning by the creators of Omnibus (CBS-TV) enabled viewers to see two fine programs. Omnibus did not begin the first of its three-part series on the Constitution until Hallmark Hall of Fame had completed its presentation of "The Good Fairy." Ferenc Molnar's charming whimsy, proved to be a grand TV entertainment, thanks in large part to the interpretations of Julie Harris, Walter Slezak and Cyril Ritchard, under George Schaeffer's light-handed direction.

Omnibus added another cluster to its distinguished television service ribbon by declining to fictionalize history. The Constitutional Convention of 1787 and the Vir-
